

COBRA Benefit COVID-19 Reinstatement Request

The DOL has extended the payment deadline for COBRA premiums that cover periods starting 3/1/2020 or later. Normally COBRA premiums are due by the 1st of the month to which the coverage applies and have a 30 day grace period. However, during the COVID-19 national emergency the deadline has been extended. The grace period for COBRA premiums is extended to 30 days after the end of the Outbreak Period. The Outbreak Period has not yet been determined. This means that for the time being, COBRA premiums have no due date.

This does NOT mean that the premiums will not be owed. Once the federal government determines that the Outbreak Period is over, COBRA participants will have 30 days to bring ALL of their prior premiums current. A failure to pay ALL prior COBRA premiums owed will result in the retroactive termination of COBRA coverage and make the individual responsible for the full cost of all expenses that would have otherwise been covered under the plan.

Please reinstate the coverages indicated above that were terminated for late payment. I understand that following the conclusion of the COVID-19 national emergency, I will be responsible to make all catch-up premium payments by the 30th day after the conclusion of the Outbreak Period to be determined by the federal government and that failure to do so will result in the retroactive termination of coverage back to the original termination date.
